Introducing the Hogan 360° Report

At Hogan, we know reputation is everything.

That's why we're excited to announce the Hogan 360° Report, a new tool to measure your reputation at work.

Developed in conjunction with Peter Berry Consultancy, the Hogan 360° is a comprehensive multi-rater feedback tool designed to help leaders at any level of an organization understand how their peers, managers, and direct reports view their performance.

Aligned with Hogan's core assessments, the Hogan 360° uses an easy-to-interpret leadership framework to provide a real-time look at an individual's attitude, behavior, and performance. The report offers constructive feedback around leadership expectations and sets priorities for improvement.

About the report

- A solution for general career development and strategic coaching engagements
- Reveals leadership strengths and identifies opportunities for improvement
- Benchmarks evaluations against an international norm group
- Provides qualitative and quantitative feedback
- Makes specific recommendations for immediate action plans

• Fully compatible with Hogan assessments

Applications

- Career-minded young professionals who want to know how to get to the next level
- Derailing or transitioning managers who need targeted coaching around leadership skills or derailment risks
- Developmentally-focused managers who want candid feedback about their performance
- Coaching clients who want to track their annual improvement using a test-retest measure
